Dear Parents and carers.

What a brilliant first week back! It was lovely to welcome all the children back this week after a half term break and it was great to see their hunger for learning hadn't dwindled with their time off!

We have begun our new history topic for this term. We are learning about Isambard Kingdom Brunel and his impact on Paignton. We have been looking at different materials in science, building on their learning from last year and the children haven't failed to amaze me with their addition and subtraction in maths. We have been adding and regrouping within one hundred and they have been brilliant.

This term in Design and Technology, we are learning about wheels and axles. To begin our learning, we will be researching modes of transport that use wheels to link with our history topic. Can I ask that every child brings in one toy (with wheels) from home that we can use for the research phase and to be on display in our classroom for the term by Friday of next week? It will really help if it is something familiar to the child for them to learn and talk about how it works.

I wish you all an excellent weekend and if you have any questions don't hesitate to talk to me on the playground at the end of the day or ask for a phone call.
