Dear Parents and carers.

We have had a triumph of a week in Oyster Cove this week! The children making links in their learning and recalling things from previous weeks as well as wowing me with their ability to apply new learning so quickly. They truly are a wonderful bunch!

We had the pleasure of welcoming some adults from our wider trust family this week and they were so impressed with everything that the children knew and how well they could speak of their learning. It was amazing to see how grown up they have become this year.

We are absolutely hooked on Space Band by Tom Fletcher, after reading the Christmasaurus, and the children are gripped by every chapter. If you are wondering what to read with your children at home, I can't recommend his books highly enough.

As artists this week, the children learnt about vanishing points and we made our own using collage. This helped us create perspective in our art with things appearing bigger in the foreground and smaller in the background.

We have been using our knowledge of times tables to be stars of division. We have been sharing and grouping for division and demonstrating it using bar models.

I wish you all a wonderful weekend and look forward to seeing you on Monday for the final week of term!
