Dear Parents and carers.

How wonderful it has been to see all the children this week!

After half term, the children have returned to school full of vigour ready to tackle this terms learning. Thankfully, the weather held out for us to have cricket this week. Thank you all for adapting to the change in schedule at such late notice! It was great to see them continue their skills and get so much enjoyment from the game. I know they are keen for children to take part on a Friday afternoon at Paignton Cricket Club too.

We have begun our class novel for the term. This time, reading Rumaysa. A weave of three classic fairy tales full of enchantment.

As historian's, we have a focus on significant women in history. DT will give the children the chance to tweak the classic jam and cream scone. As mathematicians, we have been exploring position and direction and in RE this term, we will be having a world view of religions as we think about what makes some places special to believers.

Please can we make sure everyone has a coat. I think the weather ahead is pretty wet!
